In re: ALEXIA FOODS, INC. LITIGATION

CASE NO.: 4:11-cv-06119-PJH

PLAINTIFFS' NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR AN AWARD OF ATTORNEYS' FEES, COSTS AND EXPENSES AND INCENTIVE FEES TO CLASS REPRESENTATIVES;
MEMORANDUM OF LAW

Date: December 11, 2013
Time: 9:00 A.M.
Courtroom: Courtroom 3, 3rd Floor
Judge: Hon. Phyllis J. Hamilton

1 TO ALL PARTIES AND TO THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

2 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT on December 11, 2013 at 9:00 a.m. before the 3 Honorable Phyllis J. Hamilton, United States District Court Judge for the Northern District of 4 California, 1301 Clay Street, Oakland, California 94612, Plaintiffs by and through the 5 undersigned counsel of record will move and hereby do move for an order awarding attorneys' 6 fees, litigation expenses, and Plaintiffs' incentive fees, in accordance with the Class Settlement 7 Agreement.

8 This motion is based on upon this Notice of Motion, Motion, and Memorandum in 9 support thereof, the declarations filed in support thereof, the Stipulation of Settlement filed on 10 June 4, 2013 and the amendment thereto filed on July 25, 2013, the complete files and records in 11 this action, and such additional papers and argument as may be presented at or in connection 12 with the hearing.

13 Because this motion is brought in accordance with the Class Settlement Agreement 14 between the parties, Plaintiffs do not anticipate any opposition to this motion by the Defendant.

15 Dated: October 28, 2013

Respectfully Submitted,

16 BARON & BUDD, P.C.

MEMORANDUM OF LAW

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs Leonardo Vicuña (“Vicuña”), Pere Kyle (“Kyle”), and David Eckstein (“Eckstein”) (collectively, “Plaintiffs” or “Class Representatives”)¹ and Baron & Budd, P.C., and Faruqi & Faruqi, LLP (collectively, “Class Counsel”) respectfully submit this memorandum in support of their motion for an award of attorneys’ fees, reimbursement of their litigation costs and expenses, and payment of “incentive” awards to the Class Representatives.

As detailed in Plaintiffs' concurrently-filed motion in support of final approval of the proposed class settlement, Class Counsel achieved an excellent result by negotiating with Defendant ConAgra Foods, Inc. ("ConAgra" or "Defendant") a nationwide class settlement on behalf of purchasers of certain frozen potato products (the "Settlement") that provides for real, immediate, and substantial cash and non-monetary benefits, as embodied in the Class Action Settlement Agreement (the "Settlement Agreement"). See Ex. 1 to Pifko Decl. in Support of Motion for Preliminary Approval, ECF No. 46-1. Although the claims period for this case has not yet concluded, to date, over 62,000 claims have been made, and not a single Class Member has objected.

Specifically, as a direct result of the efforts of Plaintiffs' counsel, ConAgra has agreed to change the formulation of the products to eliminate the chemical compound at issue. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.11 ("For as long as ConAgra chooses to sell the Alexia Products, ConAgra will use citric acid or other naturally-sourced compound in the Alexia Products, rather than disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate.") Additionally, the Settlement Agreement provides for monetary relief to the proposed Settlement Class by requiring ConAgra to disburse up to $3,200,000, consisting of a Cash Settlement Fund of up to $2,500,000, as well as a Voucher

1 Settlement Fund in the amount of $700,000. *See Settlement Agreement ¶¶ 1.25(a)-(b), 2.1(a)-

3 As part of the monetary relief, each Settlement Class Member shall be entitled to choose 4 one of the following Settlement benefits: (1) a cash payment of $3.50 for each Alexia Product 5 purchased, up to a maximum of 10 products and $35.00 in cash; (2) two food vouchers, up to a 6 maximum savings of $3.75 per voucher per product, for each Alexia Product purchased, up to a 7 maximum of 10 products and $75.00 in food vouchers; or (3) a combination of cash and 8 vouchers for up to 10 products total. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.4.

9 As set forth below, Plaintiffs request that the Court approve an award of attorneys' fees 10 and costs in the agreed upon sum of $800,000, to be paid by ConAgra pursuant to the terms of 11 the Settlement. If awarded, after the deduction of expenses, the requested attorneys' fees 12 represent approximately 24% of the total value of the $3,200,000 Settlement – a reasonable 13 request given the risks of the case and the results achieved. This method of calculating the fee 14 award, based on a percentage of the fund, is straightforward and fair under the circumstances of 15 the case. Cross-checking the agreed upon fee request against a lodestar fee calculation validates 16 its reasonableness. ConAgra has also agreed to pay Class Representatives Vicuña, Kyle, and 17 Eckstein incentive awards of $5,000 each (for a total of $15,000).

18 Class Counsel have vigorously prosecuted this action since inception and succeeded in 19 obtaining a significant recovery in light of provable damages and litigation risks, and now seek 20 to be compensated for their efforts. All expenses were carefully and reasonably expended and 21 should be reimbursed. Furthermore, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the reaction of the class 22 strongly supports the requested fee as over 62,000 claims were received without a single 23 objection to date.

24 This Motion is being filed during the claims period to ensure that all Settlement Class 25 members have the opportunity to review the basis for Class Counsel's claim for attorneys' fees 26 and costs during the objection period to the Settlement as required by the Ninth Circuit Court of 27 Appeals in In Re Mercury Interactive Corp. Securities Litigation, 618 F.3d 988 (9th Cir. 2010).

1 For the reasons set forth herein, the requested fees, expenses, and incentive fees to Class 2 Representatives are reasonable under Ninth Circuit and California case law. In light of the 3 excellent results achieved on behalf of the Class, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the Court 4 approve the amounts requested and also agreed to by ConAgra.

5 II. LITIGATION AND SETTLEMENT HISTORY

6 A. Relevant Procedural History

7 On December 5, 2011, Plaintiffs Vicuña and Kyle commenced an action entitled Vicuña
 8 v. Alexia Foods, Inc., Case No. 11-cv-06119 (N.D. Cal.) (the “Vicuña Action”), as a proposed 9 class action, for misleading consumers by labeling certain frozen potato products (the “Alexia 10 Products”) “natural” or “all natural,” when in fact those products contained the synthetic, 11 chemical compound disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate (“DDP”), asserting claims under the 12 Consumers Legal Remedies Act, California Civil Code §§ 1750 et seq. (“CLRA”), Unfair
 13 Competition Law, California Business & Professions Code §§ 17200 et seq. (“UCL”), and False 14 Advertising Law, California Business and Professions Code §§ 17500 et seq. (“FAL”) for breach 15 of express warranty, negligent misrepresentation, and for unjust enrichment.

16 On February 29, 2012, Plaintiff Eckstein commenced an action entitled Eckstein v. Alexia
 17 Foods, Inc., Case No. 12-cv-00976-CBA-RML (E.D.N.Y.) (the “Eckstein Action”), as a 18 proposed class action, asserting claims under the Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act, 15 U.S.C. § 19 2301 et seq., under the New York Deceptive Trade Practice Act and for breach of express 20 warranty, negligence, and unjust enrichment. On March 9, 2012, Alexia Foods, Inc.² (“Alexia”) 21 moved to dismiss Plaintiffs’ First Amended Complaint in the Vicuña Action. See Motion To 22 Dismiss Plaintiffs’ First Amended Complaint, ECF No. 13 (“Motion to Dismiss”). Alexia 23 argued that the plaintiffs’ allegations about the meaning of natural ignore the FDA’s explicit 24 recognition that “natural” is susceptible to a variety of meanings. See id. at 5:7-9. Alexia argued 25

26 ² ConAgra is the proper party defendant in the Action, and ConAgra has been substituted as 27 Defendant in the Action and is party to the Settlement Agreement.

1 that the complaint should be dismissed because Plaintiffs' factual allegations were conclusive 2 and otherwise inadequate, the plaintiffs' claims of deception fail as a matter of law under the 3 reasonable consumer standard, and Plaintiffs' warranty and unjust enrichment claims are 4 separately deficient. On March 26, 2012, pursuant to a joint motion of the Parties, the United 5 States District Court for the Eastern District of New York transferred the Eckstein Action to the 6 Northern District of California.

7 On March 30, 2012, plaintiffs in the Vicuña Action responded to Alexia's motion to 8 dismiss. The plaintiffs argued that Alexia could not establish, as a matter of law, that a 9 reasonable consumer would not find Alexia's unequivocal "all natural" claim to be misleading.
 10 See Plaintiffs' Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss First Amended Complaint, ECF No.
 11 24.

12 On April 27, 2012, this Court denied Alexia's Motion to Dismiss. See Order Denying 13 Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 33. The Court stated that "[b]ecause the question whether a 14 reasonable consumer would likely be deceived by the designation "all natural" is a factual 15 dispute, the court finds that these claims cannot be resolved at this stage of the litigation."

16 Id. at 3.

17 On May 9, 2012, the Court ordered that the Eckstein Action be consolidated with the 18 Vicuña Action, and be entitled In re Alexia Foods, Inc. Litigation, Case No. 11-cv-06119, and 19 additionally ordered that Baron & Budd, P.C. and Faruqi & Faruqi, LLP be appointed Co-Lead 20 Counsel for plaintiffs and the proposed class. (The resulting consolidated action hereinafter is 21 referred to as the "Action"). ECF No. 35.

22 On May 9, 2012, Plaintiffs filed a Consolidated Class Action Complaint (the 23 "Consolidated Complaint"), asserting claims set forth in the previously filed complaints, 24 including under the CLRA, the UCL and the FAL, New York Deceptive Trade Practice Act, and 25 for Breach of Express Warranty, Negligent Misrepresentation, and Unjust Enrichment. ECF No.
 26 36. ConAgra answered the Consolidated Complaint on May 29, 2012, denying liability. ECF 27 No. 41.

1 On July 5, 2012, the Court entered an Order substituting ConAgra in place of defendant 2 Alexia because Alexia was acquired by ConAgra and Alexia was “merged out” and dissolved.
 3 See Joint Stipulation and Order Substituting Defendant ConAgra Foods, Inc. In Place Of 4 Defendant Alexia Foods, Inc., ECF No 43.

5 The parties reached the proposed Settlement, and the Settlement Agreement was fully 6 executed by the Parties in May 2013 and by their Counsel in June 2013.

7 On June 4, 2013, Plaintiffs filed a motion for preliminary approval of the Settlement. A 8 hearing concerning Plaintiffs’ Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement ECF
 9 No. 46 was held on July 10, 2013. Following the hearing, the Court issued a minute order 10 granting Plaintiffs’ Motion. ECF No. 50. At the hearing, the Court noted certain potential 11 concerns regarding the class notice and claim form. Accordingly, the agreed to make changes to 12 the Settlement to address the Court’s concerns, and detailed those changes in the July 25, 2013 13 Joint Supplemental Memorandum in Further Support of Plaintiffs’ Motion for Preliminary 14 Approval of Class Action Settlement, ECF No. 53.

15 ConAgra, while denying all allegations of wrongdoing and disclaiming all liability with 16 respect to all claims, considered it desirable to resolve the Action on the terms stated in the 17 Settlement Agreement in order to avoid further expense, inconvenience and burden and, 18 therefore, determined that the Parties’ Settlement was in ConAgra’s best interests.

19 B. Plaintiffs’ Discovery Efforts

20 Plaintiffs have thoroughly investigated this case. Prior to filing the lawsuit, Plaintiffs 21 conducted a thorough search of publically available sources to verify the scope and nature of the 22 conduct alleged. See Declaration of Roland Tellis In Support of Plaintiffs’ Motions For Final 23 Approval of Class Action Settlement; and For An Award of Attorneys’ Fees, Costs and 24 Expenses, and Incentive Fees To Class Representatives (“Tellis Decl.”) at ¶ 8.

25 After the filing of the respective actions, Plaintiffs, by and through their respective 26 counsel, conducted a thorough examination and investigation of the facts and law relating to the 27 matters in this Action, including, but not limited to, engaging in discovery, review and analysis

1 of certain documents and data produced by ConAgra, and analysis of the ingredients in the 2 Alexia Products, an analysis of DDP and the Alexia Products, which was conducted by a 3 Professor of Food Science and Technology at the direction of Class Counsel, a review of the 4 National Organic Standards Board's analysis of DDP in connection with organic classification 5 applications, and an analysis of the alternatives to DDP that were available to ConAgra.

6 Class Counsel also evaluated the merits of all Parties' contentions and evaluated this 7 Settlement, as it affects all Parties, including Settlement Class Members. Plaintiffs and Class 8 Counsel, after taking into account the foregoing, along with the risks and costs of further 9 litigation, are satisfied that the terms and conditions of this Settlement are fair, reasonable and 10 adequate, and that this Settlement is in the best interest of the Settlement Class Members. See 11 Tellis Decl. at ¶¶ 3, 30.

12 C. Mediation and Settlement Negotiations

13 The Settlement is the product of extended arm's-length negotiations commencing with 14 mediation at JAMS conducted by the Honorable Ronald M. Sabraw (Ret.), followed by many 15 months of telephonic conferences and e-mail exchanges between experienced attorneys familiar 16 with the legal and factual issues of this case. All Settlement Class Members are treated fairly 17 under the terms of the Settlement. See Tellis Decl. at ¶ 27.

18 D. Class Counsel Obtained Exceptional Benefits for the Class

19 Class Counsel obtained meaningful relief, which will serve as a benchmark for other 20 similar cases going forward. The benefits include:

- 21 • Defendant has agreed to reformulate the ingredients in the Alexia Products as follows: "For as long as ConAgra chooses to sell the Alexia Products, ConAgra will use citric acid or other naturally-sourced compound in the Alexia Products, rather than disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate. If the Food and Drug Administration determines in the future that products containing disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate can be labeled 'natural,' ConAgra reserves the right to use disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate in the Alexia Products." See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.11.
- 22 • Defendant will establish a cash and food voucher fund ("Settlement Fund") requiring ConAgra to disburse up to $3,200,000.00, consisting of a Cash Settlement Fund in an amount up to $2,500,000 as well as a Voucher

1 Settlement Fund in the amount of $700,000. See Settlement Agreement ¶¶ 2 1.25(a)-(b); 2.1(a)-(b); 2.2; and

- 3 • Each Settlement Class Member shall be entitled to choose one of the 4 following Settlement benefits: (1) a cash payment of $3.50 for each Alexia 5 Product purchased, up to a maximum of 10 products and $35.00 in cash; 6 (2) two food vouchers, up to a maximum savings of $3.75 per voucher per 7 product, for each Alexia Product purchased, up to a maximum of 10 8 products and $75.00 in food vouchers; or (3) a combination of cash and 9 vouchers for up to 10 products total. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.4.

10 These benefits are extraordinary since this case featured complex legal issues and 11 achieved a positive resolution for the Class despite extant negative case law from other cases.
 12 The likelihood that a greater result could be achieved at trial is remote. To address labeling 13 issues going forward, the Settlement achieves complete relief in the form of a contractual 14 commitment by ConAgra to reformulate the ingredients in the Alexia Products. As a result, the 15 consumer will no longer be exposed to allegedly false messaging about the “all natural” status of 16 the Alexia Products. And, the Cash Settlement Fund and Voucher Settlement Fund provide a 17 tangible and significant monetary benefit to the Class in lieu of the continued risk of litigation.
 18 The Settlement secured by Class Counsel and the Class Representatives on behalf of the Class 19 represents an excellent and relatively swift result for Settlement Class Members.

20 III. CLASS COUNSEL’S REQUESTED ATTORNEYS’ FEES AWARD IS FAIR AND 21 REASONABLE

22 A. The Requested Fee-And-Expense Amount Was Agreed Upon By 23 Sophisticated Parties After Arm’s-Length Negotiations

24 The United States Supreme Court has encouraged a consensual resolution of attorneys’ 25 fees as the ideal toward which litigants should strive. In Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424 26 (1983), the United States Supreme Court stated “[a] request for attorney’s fees should not result 27 in a second major litigation. Ideally, of course, litigants will settle the amount of a fee.” Id. at 28 437 (emphasis added); accord In re Cont'l Ill. Sec. Litig., 962 F.2d 566, 568-70 (7th Cir. 1992) (market factors, best known by the negotiating parties themselves, should determine the quantum

1 of attorneys' fees).³ In representative cases, it is widely recognized that fee agreements between 2 plaintiffs and defendants are urged. Johnson v. Ga. Highway Express, Inc., 488 F.2d 714, 720
 3 (5th Cir. 1974) ("In cases of this kind, we encourage counsel on both sides to utilize their best 4 efforts to understandingly, sympathetically, and professionally arrive at a settlement as to 5 attorney's fees."). Of course, even where the parties have agreed as to the appropriate amount of 6 the fee, the Court must still review and approve the fee.

7 In the absence of any evidence of collusion, a negotiated fee that does not diminish the 8 amount of recovery by the class is entitled to substantial weight. In re First Capital Holdings 9 Corp. Fin. Prods. Sec. Litig., MDL No. 901, 1992 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14337, at *12-13 (C.D. Cal.
 10 June 10, 1992) (stating that the Court should be reluctant to disturb award where class counsel 11 negotiated fee with sophisticated defense counsel, who were familiar with case, risks, amount 12 and value of class counsel's time, and nature of result obtained for class). Counsel who represent 13 a class and produce a benefit for the class members are entitled to be compensated for their 14 services, especially where, as here, the defendant has stipulated to the payment of attorneys' fees 15 in addition to the recovery for the class.

16 Consistent with the foregoing precedents, the parties here negotiated the amount of fees 17 and expenses ConAgra will pay to Class Counsel for the work that all Class Counsel did on 18 behalf of the Class. The result is an amount that reflects a compromise reached through arm's-19 length bargaining by sophisticated counsel familiar with the case, and reflects the risks for both 20 sides, the nature of the result obtained for the Class, and the magnitude of the fee the Court might 21 award if the matter were litigated. It was only after the parties negotiated the other terms and 22 ³ These actions asserted California state law claims. While fee awards are subject to judicial 23 scrutiny, California courts also defer to the fee agreements between parties if the agreement is 24 otherwise valid. Cazares v. Saenz, 208 Cal. App. 3d 279, 287 (1989) ("where the bargaining 25 process is a fair one, courts traditionally defer to the parties' agreement as the best measure of 26 the value of the contract performance") (citation omitted); Melendres v. City of L.A., 45 Cal.

 27 App. 3d 267, 282-83 (1975); Lealao v. Beneficial Cal., Inc., 82 Cal. App. 4th 19, 47-48 (2000) 28 ("In the class action context, that would mean attempting to award the fee that informed private bargaining, if it were truly possible, might have reached.") (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted).

provisions of the Settlement that the parties addressed the issue of attorneys' fees. Tellis Decl. ¶ 49. Additionally, ConAgra's counsel has an interest in protecting their client who has a direct financial interest in the amount of the fees and expenses to be paid. ConAgra is represented by highly skilled lawyers, and does not need, nor has it sought, protection from the Court regarding the amount of the fees and expenses to be paid. Thus, the negotiated fee is entitled to a presumption of reasonableness.

B. Class Counsel's Requested Fees Are Reasonable Under The Percentage Of The Class Benefit Approach

Under Ninth Circuit standards, a District Court may award attorneys' fees under either the "lodestar" method or the "percentage-of-the-fund" method. Fischel v. Equitable Life Assurance Soc'y of the U.S., 307 F.3d 997, 1006 (9th Cir. 2002); Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1029 (9th Cir. 1998). The percentage-of-the-fund method of awarding fees has become an accepted if not the prevailing method for awarding fees in common fund cases in this circuit and throughout the United States. Indeed, courts have long recognized that "a private plaintiff, or his attorney, whose efforts create, discover, increase or preserve a fund to which others also have a claim is entitled to recover from the fund the costs of his litigation, including attorneys' fees." Vincent v. Hughes Air W., Inc., 557 F.2d 759, 769 (9th Cir. 1977).

Under the common fund doctrine, courts typically award attorneys' fees based on a percentage of the total settlement. See State of Florida v. Dunne, 915 F.2d 542, 545 (9th Cir. 1990); see also In re Pac. Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 379 (9th Cir. 1995) (affirming attorney's fee award of 33% of the recovery); Morris v. Lifescan, Inc., 54 F. App'x 663, 664 (9th Cir. 2003) (affirming attorney's fee award of 33% of the recovery). When determining the value of the settlement, courts consider the non-monetary benefits conferred, as well as any cash attorneys' fee and cost payments to be made pursuant to the settlement terms with the defendants. See, e.g. Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 972-74 (9th Cir. 2003); Hartless v. Clorox Co., 273 F.R.D. 630, 645 (S.D. Cal. 2011), aff'd, 473 F. App'x. 716 (9th Cir. 2012). California courts view the award to the class and the agreement on attorneys' fees a package

1 deal. Lealao, 82 Cal. App. 4th at 33. Thus, “the sum of the two amounts ordinarily should be 2 treated as a settlement fund for the benefit of the class, with the agreed-on fee amount 3 constituting the upper limit on the fees that can be awarded to counsel.” Consumer Privacy
 4 Cases, 175 Cal. App. 4th 545, 554 (2009) (quoting the Ann. Manual for Complex Litigation § 5 21.71 at 525 (4th ed. 2008)). Moreover, the Court must not consider the total monetary amount 6 distributed to the Class; rather, the Court should only consider the amount made available to the 7 Class. As articulated in Young v. Polo Retail, LLC, No. C-02-4546 VRW, 2007 U.S. Dist.
 8 LEXIS 27269 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 28, 2007), Ninth Circuit precedent requires courts to award class 9 counsel fees based on the total benefits being made available rather than the amount actually 10 paid out. Id. at *23 (citing Williams v. MGM-Pathe Commc'n Co., 129 F.3d 1026 (9th Cir.
 11 1997) (“ruling that a district court abused its discretion in basing attorney fee award on actual 12 distribution to class” instead of amount being made available)).

13 1. Class Counsel's Fee Request Is Within The 25% Benchmark 14 Established By The Ninth Circuit And Is Reasonable

15 The Ninth Circuit has established an attorney fee “benchmark” of 25% of the common 16 fund.⁴ Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. The Ninth Circuit also identified five factors that are relevant 17 in determining whether requested attorneys’ fees in a common fund case are reasonable: (1) the 18 results achieved; (2) the risk of litigation; (3) the skill required and the quality of work; (4) 19 awards made in similar cases; and (5) the contingent nature of the fee and the financial burden 20 carried by the plaintiffs. Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1048-50 (9th Cir. 2002).

21 Plaintiffs’ request for an award of attorneys’ fees and costs in the sum of $800,000 22 represents approximately 25% of the total settlement fund value of $3,200,000.00. Indeed, after 23 deduction of the total costs incurred in the sum of $29,735.85, Plaintiffs’ counsel’s request for 24

25 ⁴ This benchmark “can then be adjusted upward or downward to account for any unusual 26 circumstances Such an adjustment, however, must be accompanied by a reasonable 27 explanation of why the benchmark is unreasonable under the circumstances.” Paul, Johnson, Alston & Hunt v. Grauity, 886 F.2d 268, 272-73 (9th Cir. 1989).

1 attorneys' fees is approximately 24% of the total settlement fund value of $3,200,000.00.
 2 Accordingly, Plaintiffs' request is consistent with the Ninth Circuit's 25% benchmark for 3 measuring reasonable attorneys' fees under a percentage-of-the-fund approach. Moreover, the 4 requested fees are also reasonable applying the Vizcaino factors.

5 2. Class Counsel Achieved Excellent Results For The Class

6 Class Counsel achieved an excellent settlement in this action and realized Plaintiffs' 7 ultimate goals to: (i) change Defendant's business practices and (ii) receive compensation for the 8 alleged misrepresentations made by Defendant. The non-monetary component requires a 9 reformulating the ingredients in the Alexia Product to include citric acid or another naturally-10 sourced ingredients, in place of the chemical compound disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate.
 11 See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.11. Reformulation is a novel and particularly appropriate type of 12 relief in "all natural" cases. Indeed, reformulation will help ensure that future shoppers will no 13 longer be exposed to false messaging about the "all natural" status of the Alexia Products.
 14 Plaintiffs are not aware of any other "all natural" case where a defendant has agreed to 15 reformulate the products at issue as a term of the settlement.

16 For the purposes of calculating fees based on the common fund approach, Class Counsel 17 did not attribute any monetary value to the ConAgra's agreement to reformulation because: (1) 18 this form of relief does not easily lend itself to monetary valuation without the benefit of, and 19 expense and time associated with, expert opinions and (2) Class Counsel's requested fee is 20 within the Ninth Circuit's "benchmark" without attributing any value to ConAgra's agreement to 21 reformulate. Thus, a conservative estimated value of the settlement exceeds $3.2 million.

22 The Settlement requires Defendant to disburse up to $3,200,000.00, consisting of a Cash 23 Settlement Fund in an amount up to $2,500,000 as well as a Voucher Settlement Fund in the 24 amount of $700,000. The Settlement Class members shall be entitled to choose one of the 25 following Settlement benefits: (1) a cash payment of $3.50 for each Alexia Product purchased, 26 up to a maximum of 10 products and $35.00 in cash; (2) two food vouchers, up to a maximum 27 savings of $3.75 per voucher per product, for each Alexia Product purchased, up to a maximum

1 of 10 products and $75.00 in food vouchers; or (3) a combination of cash and vouchers for up to 2 10 products total. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.4. Thus, the resolution of this case through 3 settlement provides the Settlement Class with the benefit of significant financial recovery 4 without the delay of continued litigation. In re Critical Path, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. C. 01-00551, 5 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26399, at *30 (N.D. Cal. June 18, 2002) (“[i]t is a relevant circumstance 6 that counsel achieved a timely result for the class members in need of immediate relief.”)
 7 (citation omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted). Here, Class Counsel provided a valuable 8 benefit to the Class by securing the Settlement early in the life of the litigation. As such, the 9 results achieved by the Settlement support the fee request.

10 3. Plaintiffs' Claims Carried A Substantial Amount of Risk

11 From the outset, Class Counsel undertook significant financial risk in prosecuting this 12 case. Class Counsel undertook this matter solely on a contingent basis with no guarantee of 13 recovery. Class Counsel risked their resources to prosecute this action. There was no assurance 14 that this case would have been certified, that certification would include a nationwide class, or 15 that Plaintiffs would have succeeded at trial.

16 This was not a simple case. Throughout the litigation, ConAgra took the position that 17 Plaintiffs' allegations about the meaning of “natural” ignore the FDA’s recognition that “natural” 18 is susceptible to a variety of meanings. See Motion to Dismiss 5:7-9, ECF No. 13. Specifically, 19 Defendant highlighted the fact that although Congress vested the FDA with broad authority to 20 regulate the labeling and advertising of foods and beverages under the Federal Food, Drug and 21 Cosmetic Act, 21 U.S.C. § 393(b), the FDA has never used that authority to implement a formal 22 definition or regulation governing use of the term “natural.” Motion to Dismiss 5:12-16. Thus, 23 Plaintiffs undertook the significant risk of litigating this case in light of the complexity of the 24 legal and factual matters at issue, with no guarantee of recovery.

25 Moreover, even if the Court certified a class, on ConAgra’s or the Court’s own motion, 26 the class could be decertified at any time. See In re Netflix Privacy Litig., No. 5:11-CV-00379-27 EJD, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 37286, at *15-16 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 2013) (“The notion that a

1 district court could decertify a class at any time is one that weighs in favor of settlement” 2 (internal citations omitted)). Additionally, the Ninth Circuit’s decision in Mazza v. American 3 Honda Motor Co., 666 F.3d 581, 589-94 (9th Cir. 2012), which questioned the viability of 4 certifying a nationwide class under California’s consumer protection and unjust enrichment laws, 5 could have had a direct bearing on this case if it were to proceed in litigation. The Mazza
 6 decision would have resulted in much debate over the size and parameter of any class Plaintiffs 7 could certify. As certification remains unknown, this factor too weighs in favor of finally 8 approving this Settlement.

9 Even assuming Plaintiffs were to survive a motion for summary judgment, the risks of 10 establishing liability posed by conflicting expert testimony would be exacerbated by the 11 unpredictability of a lengthy and complex trial. Tellis Decl. ¶ 42. In a “battle of experts,” it is 12 virtually impossible to predict with any certainty which testimony would be credited, and 13 ultimately, which expert version would be accepted by the jury. Id. Even if Plaintiffs were to 14 prevail on the issue of liability, there would still be risks in establishing the existence of 15 monetary damages based on the inclusion of DDP in the Alexia Products. Id. at 43. The 16 experience of Plaintiffs’ counsel has taught them that the above-described factors can make the 17 outcome of trial extremely uncertain. Id. at 46. Nevertheless, Plaintiffs’ counsel accepted the 18 risk, vigorously litigated this action on behalf of the class and reached a valuable Settlement 19 through extensive arm’s-length negotiations with defendants.

20 4. Prosecuting This Case Required Substantial Skill, Resulting In The 21 Highest Quality Of Representation For The Class

22 The prosecution of a complex, nationwide class action “requires unique . . . skills and 23 abilities.” In re OmniVision Techs., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1047 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (citation 24 omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted). This case involved matters that required significant 25 expenditure of Class Counsel’s time such as: (1) extensive pre-litigation investigation; (2) 26 consulting with industry experts; (3) extensive and detailed legal research into the substantive 27 law of the causes of action at issue; (4) developing and executing litigation strategies; (5)

1 researching and preparing for class certification; (6) developing and executing mediation and 2 settlement strategies; and (7) analyzing data and information exchanged between the parties to 3 assure that the Settlement's terms are based upon objective evidence that had been thoroughly 4 considered in the context of the risks, expenses, and benefits of continuing to litigate the case.
 5 Tellis Decl. ¶¶ 10, 25-27.

6 Class Counsel vigorously and competently pursued the Settlement Class Members' 7 claims. The arm's-length settlement negotiations that took place demonstrate that Class Counsel 8 adequately represented the Settlement Class. Moreover, Plaintiffs and Class Counsel have no 9 conflicts of interests with the Settlement Class. Rather, Plaintiffs, like each absent Settlement 10 Class Member, have a strong interest in proving ConAgra's common course of conduct, 11 establishing its unlawfulness and obtaining redress. In pursing this litigation, Class Counsel, as 12 well as Plaintiffs, have advanced and will continue to advance and fully protect the common 13 interests of all members of the Class. Class Counsel have extensive experience and expertise in 14 prosecuting complex class actions. Class Counsel are active practitioners who are highly 15 experienced in class action, product liability, and consumer fraud litigation. See Tellis Decl. Ex.
 16 A and Declaration of David E. Bower ("Bower Decl.") Ex. A for Class Counsel's firm resumes.
 17 Baron & Budd, P.C. and Faruqi & Faruqi, LLP were appointed Co-Lead Class Counsel for the 18 proposed Class on May 9, 2012 and counsel for the Settlement Class on July 30, 2013.

19 The quality of opposing counsel is also important in evaluating the quality of the work 20 done by Class Counsel. See, e.g., In re Warner Commc'ns Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 749
 21 (S.D.N.Y. 1985); In re King Res. Co. Sec. Litig., 420 F. Supp. 610, 635-36 (D. Colo. 1976).
 22 ConAgra is represented by Hogan Lovells, a prominent international law firm with more than 23 2,500 lawyers and extensive experience in class action litigation. Class Counsel's ability to 24 obtain a favorable Settlement in the face of this sophisticated legal adversary reflects their 25 superior work quality.

1 5. Courts Have Ordered Similar Or Greater Percentage Fees Awards In 2 Consumer Class Actions

3 Courts in this Circuit have awarded fees of 25% to 30% or more in common fund cases.

4 See, e.g., Craft v. Cnty. of San Bernardino, 624 F. Supp. 2d 1113 (C.D. Cal. 2008) (awarding 5 25%); Nobles v. MBNA Corp., No. C 06-3723 CRB, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 59435 (N.D. Cal.
 6 June 29, 2009) (awarding 25%). In fact, California district courts have awarded more than the 7 typical 25% benchmark in common fund settlements. For example, when awarding 32.8% of the 8 settlement fund for fees and costs, the Honorable Judge Marilyn Hall Patel explained: “absent 9 extraordinary circumstances that suggest reasons to lower or increase the percentage, the rate 10 should be set at 30%[,]” as “[t]his will encourage plaintiffs’ attorneys to move for early 11 settlement, provide predictability for the attorneys and the class members, and reduce the time 12 consumed by counsel and court in dealing with voluminous fee petitions.” In re Activision Sec.
 13 Litig., 723 F. Supp. 1373, 1378-79 (N.D. Cal. 1989); see also In re Pac. Enters., 47 F.3d at 379 14 (affirming attorney’s fee of 33% of the recovery); Williams, 129 F.3d at 1027 (33.33% of total 15 fund awarded); Morris, 54 F. App’x at 664 (affirming fee award of 33% of the recovery); 16 Vasquez v. Coast Valley Roofing, Inc., 266 F.R.D. 482, 492 (E.D. Cal. 2010) (citing to five 17 recent class actions where federal district courts approved attorney fee awards ranging from 30% 18 to 33%); Martin v. AmeriPride Servs., Inc., No. 08-CV-440-MMA (JMA), 2011 U.S. Dist.
 19 LEXIS 61796, at *23 (S.D. Cal. June 9, 2011) (noting that “courts may award attorneys fees in 20 the 30%–40% range in . . . class actions that result in recovery of a common fun[d] under $10 21 million”) (citation omitted); Singer v. Becton Dickinson & Co., No. 08-CV-821- IEG (BLM), 22 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53416, at *22-23 (S.D. Cal. June 1, 2010) (approving attorney fee award 23 of 33.33% of the common fund and holding that award was similar to awards in three other cases 24 where fees ranged from 33.33% to 40%); Ingalls v. Hallmark Mktg. Corp., No. 08-CV-4342 25 VBF, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131081 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 16, 2009) (awarding 33.33% fee on a $5.6 26 million common fund settlement).

Moreover, the Southern District of California recently approved a 25% fee on a $4,000,000 settlement in a strikingly similar case concerning false representations made on food product labels. See Koz v. Kellogg Co., No. 09-CV-1786-IEG (WMC), 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 129205 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 10, 2013). There, the settlement conferred a total financial benefit to the class in excess of $4,000,000, including both a non-reversionary cash fund of $4,000,000 and injunctive relief which the court determined would benefit both class members and non-class consumers going forward. Id. at *22-23. The District Court found that in light of the results achieved, the requested fees appear reasonable of $1,000,000, which constituted 25% of the fund; appeared reasonable. Id. at *23.

The percentage of the fund created through the Settlement supports the reasonableness of Class Counsel's fee and expense request and is consistent with the 25% benchmark. Class Counsel's requested fees are fair and reasonable.

6. Reaction of the Class

To date, no member of the Class has objected to the Settlement, and only two Settlement Class Members have requested exclusion. Tellis Decl. ¶ 47. The reaction of the class may be a factor in the determining of a fee award. See In re Omnivision Techs., 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1048 ("None of the [three] objectors raised any concern about the amount of the fee. This factor . . . also supports the requested award of 28% of the Settlement Fund."); see also In re Heritage Bond Litig. v. U.S. Trust Co. of Tex., N.A., 02-ML-1475-DT (RCx), 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13627, at *48 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) ("[t]he presence or absence of objections from the class is also a factor in determining the proper fee award.") (citations omitted). Although Plaintiffs acknowledge that objections are not due until November 27, 2013, the reaction of the Class to the Settlement thus far, including its fee provisions, is overwhelmingly positive and supports a finding that the requested fees are fair, reasonable, and adequate.

C. Lodestar Cross-Check Also Supports The Requested Fee Award

The Ninth Circuit has recognized the value of comparing the lodestar to percentage of the fund approaches. "Courts may compare the two methods of calculating attorney's fees in 1 determining whether fees are reasonable.” Fischel, 307 F.3d at 1007 (citation omitted). Courts in 2 the Ninth Circuit often examine the lodestar calculation as a cross-check on the percentage fee 3 award to ensure that counsel will not receive a “windfall.” Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050. The 4 cross-check analysis is a two-step process. First, the lodestar is determined by multiplying the 5 number of hours reasonably expended by the reasonable rates requested by the attorneys. See 6 Caudle v. Bristow Optical Co., 224 F.3d 1014, 1028 (9th Cir. 2000). Second, the court 7 determines the multiplier, if any, required to match the lodestar to the percentage-of-the-fund 8 request made by counsel, and determines whether the multiplier falls within the accepted range 9 for such a case. Here, the lodestar cross-check confirms that the 25% request is reasonable.

10 Plaintiffs request that the Court approve an award of attorneys’ fees and costs in the sum 11 of $800,000 to be paid by ConAgra pursuant to the terms of the Settlement. If awarded, after the 12 deduction of expenses, the attorneys’ fees represent approximately 24% of the total value of the 13 $3,200,000 Settlement – a reasonable request given the risks of the case and the results achieved.
 14 This method of calculating the fee award, based on a percentage of the fund, is straightforward 15 and fair under the circumstances of the case.

16 Cross-checking the agreed upon fee request against a lodestar fee calculation validates its 17 reasonableness. Plaintiffs’ counsel incurred a total of $787,217.35 in attorneys’ fees and costs.
 18 Thus, the agreed upon sum of $800,000 in attorneys’ fees and costs results in a fractional or 19 nominal multiplier (1.016) of Class Counsel’s aggregate lodestar. The nominal or fractional 20 multiplier (1.016) produced by cross-checking the agreed upon 25% sum against Plaintiffs’ 21 counsel’s current lodestar falls well within the accepted range in the Ninth Circuit, and is 22 reasonable. See, e.g., Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050-51 (approving 28% fee after lodestar 23 crosscheck resulted in a multiplier of 3.65); Craft, 624 F. Supp. 2d at 1125 (approving 25% fee 24 award resulting in a multiplier of 5.2, and collecting similar cases). The nominal or fractional 25 multiplier provided by the lodestar cross-check demonstrates that the percentage fee sought by 26 Class Counsel is justifiable and reasonable.

1 D. The Court May Alternatively Grant The Requested Attorneys' Fees Under 2 The Lodestar Method

3 Under Ninth Circuit standards, a District Court may award attorneys' fees under the 4 "lodestar" method. Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. The lodestar figure is calculated by multiplying 5 the hours spent on the case by reasonable hourly rates for the region and attorney experience.
6 See, e.g., In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 941-42 (9th Cir. 2011);
7 Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. The resulting lodestar figure may be adjusted upward or downward 8 by use of a multiplier to account for factors including, but not limited to: (i) the quality of the 9 representation; (ii) the benefit obtained for the class; (iii) the complexity and novelty of the 10 issues presented; and (iv) the risk of nonpayment. Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029; see also Kerr v.
11 Screen Extras Guild, Inc., 526 F.2d 67, 70 (9th Cir. 1975)⁵. Courts typically apply a multiplier 12 or enhancement to the lodestar to account for the substantial risk that class counsel undertook by 13 accepting a case where no payment would be received if the lawsuit did not succeed. Vizcaino, 14 290 F.3d at 1051.

15 1. Class Counsel Have Spent A Reasonable Number Of Hours On This 16 Litigation At A Reasonable Hourly Rate

17 To assist the Court in evaluating the reasonableness of the time spent on this case, Class 18 Counsel have presented a schedule of their time records. Tellis Decl. ¶ 52, Ex. B; Bower Decl.
19 at ¶ 8, Ex. B. Each firm has also submitted a description of its current hourly rates.⁶

20 ⁵ Kerr identifies twelve factors for analyzing reasonable attorneys' fees:

21 (1) the time and labor required; (2) the novelty and difficulty of the questions 22 involved; (3) the skill requisite to perform the legal service properly; (4) the 23 preclusion of other employment by the attorney due to acceptance of the case; 24 (5) the customary fee; (6) whether the fee is fixed or contingent; (7) time 25 limitations imposed by the client or the circumstances; (8) the amount involved and the results obtained; (9) the experience, reputation, and the ability of the attorneys; (10) the 'undesirability' of the case; (11) the nature and length of the professional relationship with the client; and (12) awards in similar cases.

26 ⁶ On October 25, 2013, Faruqi & Faruqi's hourly rates were approved by the Honorable Edward 27 J. Davila in In re Haier Freezer Consumer Litigation, Case No. C11-02911 EJD, ECF No. 90

1 Class Counsel devoted a total of 1,150.50 hours successfully prosecuting this litigation
 2 and negotiating its Settlement and have incurred $29,735.85 in out-of-pocket expenses. Tellis 3 Decl. ¶¶ 52-53, Exs. B and C; Bower Decl. at ¶¶ 8,14, Exs. B and C. These efforts have resulted 4 in a total lodestar fee of $757,481.50. This current lodestar represents the total work Class 5 Counsel have undertaken since the inception of this case. The hours spent on this case are 6 reasonable and reflect the ability and efficiency of Class Counsel. Moreover, counsel's hourly 7 rates are reasonable and comparable to hourly rates in this forum for comparable services. Tellis 8 Decl. ¶ 63; Bower Decl. ¶ 10. The work performed to date, along with the work anticipated 9 going forward, supports Class Counsel's lodestar.

10 The requested amount of $800,000 is inclusive of both attorneys' fees and litigation 11 costs, and will be paid, subject to the Court's approval, by ConAgra will be from the Cash 12 Settlement Fund. After reimbursement of $29,735.85 in costs and expenses, the remainder for 13 fees is $770,264.15. Thus, the agreed upon requested fee results in a factional or nominal 14 multiplier (1.016) on Class Counsel's combined lodestar of $757,481.50.

15 The lodestar analysis is not limited to the initial mathematical calculation of class 16 counsel's base fee. See Morales v. City of San Rafael, 96 F.3d 359, 363–64 (9th Cir. 1996).
 17 Rather, Class Counsel's actual lodestar may be enhanced according to those factors that have not 18 been "subsumed within the initial calculation of hours reasonably expended at a reasonable 19 hourly rate." Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 434 n.9 (1983) (citation omitted); see also 20 Morales, 96 F.3d at 364. In a historical review of numerous class action settlements, the Ninth 21 Circuit found that lodestar multipliers normally range from 0.6 to 19.6, with most (83%) falling 22 between 1 and 4, and a bare majority (54%) between 1.5 and 3. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1051 n.6
 23 (citation omitted); see also Alba Conte & Herbert B. Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions §

 26 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 25, 2013) (granting plaintiffs' motion for final approval and for award of 27 attorneys' fees, costs, and incentive awards).

1 14:03 (3d ed. 1992) (recognizing that multipliers of 1 to 4 are frequently awarded). Yet state and 2 federal courts often grant multipliers of four or more.⁷

3 a. Novelty And Complexity Of This Litigation

4 The novelty and complexity of this case also supports the requested fee. Class Action 5 matters are generally complex, but this one is particularly so due to the interplay between the 6 FDA guidelines and false advertising laws. The contested issues in the litigation were complex, 7 including determinations of whether ConAgra's product labels were false or misleading. These 8 issues were hotly contested and were subject to a motion to dismiss. Defendant took the position 9 that Plaintiffs' allegations about the meaning of "natural" ignore the FDA's recognition that 10 "natural" is susceptible to a variety of meanings. In opposing Defendant's position, Plaintiffs 11 were faced with difficult legal and factual issues, which required creativity and sophisticated 12 analysis. Plaintiffs took the position that as a matter of law, a reasonable consumer would not 13 find Defendant's unequivocal "all natural" claim to be misleading and common sense suggests 14 that a product containing the synthetic chemical preservative, DDP, is not "all" natural.

15 Moreover, and as discussed above, the non-monetary relief in this case is a novel and a 16 particularly appropriate type of relief in this kind of "all natural" action. The agreed upon 17 reformulation of the ingredients in the Alexia Products will help ensure that future shoppers will 18 no longer be exposed to false messaging about the "all natural" status of the Alexia Products.
 19 Plaintiffs are not aware of any other "all natural" case where a defendant has agreed to 20 reformulate the products at issue as a term of the settlement.

22 ⁷ See, e.g., In re Cenco Inc. Sec. Litig., 519 F. Supp. 322 (N.D. Ill. 1981) (approving multiplier of 23 2 in securities class action); Rabin v. Concord Assets Grp., Inc., No. 89 CIV. 6130 (LBS), 1991 24 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18273 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 19, 1991) (approving multiplier of 4.4 in securities class 25 action); Mun. Auth. of Bloomsburg v. Pennsylvania, 527 F. Supp. 982 (M.D. Pa. 1981)
 26 (approving multiplier of 4.5); In re Beverly Hills Fire Litig., 639 F. Supp. 915 (E.D. Ky. 1986)
 27 (approving multiplier of up to 5); Roberts v. Texaco, Inc., 979 F. Supp. 185 (S.D.N.Y. 1997)
 28 (approving multiplier of 5.5); In re Boston & Me. Corp. v. Sheehan, Phinney, Bass & Green, P.A., 778 F.2d 890 (1st Cir. 1985) (approving multiplier of 6); Muchnick v. First Fed. Savs. & Loan Assoc. of Phil., No. 86-1104, 1986 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19798 (E.D. Pa. Sept. 30, 1986) (approving multiplier of 8.3 in a consumer class action).

1 Settlement negotiations included multiple formal and informal discussions, which were 2 complicated both in terms of the subject matter and damages analyses at issue. Tellis Decl. ¶¶ 3 22-23, 26. Moreover, this required substantial original work, and significant risk that Class 4 Counsel's efforts (and their out-of-pocket costs) would go uncompensated. Given this 5 landscape, the fact that Class Counsel negotiated this Settlement is a notable achievement.

6 b. Class Counsel Provided Exceptional Representation 7 Prosecuting This Complex Case

8 Class Counsel respectfully submit that they conducted themselves in this action in a 9 professional, diligent and efficient manner. Class Counsel are highly-respected and experienced 10 leaders in the field of consumer class action litigation. See Tellis Decl. ¶ 39; Bower Decl. ¶ 3 11 (attaching firm resumes). Tasks were allocated to prevent "over-lawyering" and inefficiency.
 12 The bulk of the work was performed by a limited number of attorneys fully familiar with the 13 complex factual and legal issues presented by this litigation. This division of labor permitted the 14 work to be done efficiently, resulting in an economy of service and avoiding duplication of 15 effort.

16 Class Counsel invested a substantial amount of time and resources into investigations 17 relating to the matters alleged in this action, including, but not limited to consulting with industry 18 personnel, extensive consultation with experts, reviewing and analyzing documents and data 19 produced by ConAgra, and analyzing the ingredients in the Alexia Products, an analysis of DDP
 20 and the Alexia Products, which was conducted by a Professor of Food Science and Technology 21 at the direction of Class Counsel, a review of the National Organic Standards Board's analysis of 22 DDP in connection with organic classification applications, and an analysis of the alternatives to 23 DDP that were available to ConAgra.

24 The successful conclusion of this litigation required Class Counsel to commit a 25 significant amount of time, personnel, and expenses, on a contingency basis, with absolutely no 26 guarantee of being compensated in the end. Additionally, the ability of Class Counsel to obtain a 27 favorable Settlement in the face of a high caliber legal adversary also reflects the superior quality

1 of Class Counsel's work. ConAgra represented by Hogan Lovells, a prominent international 2 law firm with more than 2,500 lawyers and extensive experience in class action litigation. Class 3 Counsel's ability to obtain a favorable Settlement in the face of this sophisticated and skilled 4 legal adversary reflects their superior work quality.

5 c. Class Counsel Obtained Excellent Class Benefits

6 The Settlement provides significant relief for the Class. Class Counsel negotiated a 7 Settlement with a total value of up to $3,200,000.00. Depending on which Settlement "option" 8 chosen, Settlement Class members shall be entitled to choose one of the following Settlement 9 benefits: (1) a cash payment of $3.50 for each Alexia Product purchased, up to a maximum of 10 10 products and $35.00 in cash; (2) two food vouchers, up to a maximum savings of $3.75 per 11 voucher per product, for each Alexia Product purchased, up to a maximum of 10 products and 12 $75.00 in food vouchers; or (3) a combination of cash and vouchers for up to 10 products total.

13 See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.4. Furthermore, the Settlement Agreement requires the 14 reformulating the Alexia Product to include citric acid or other naturally-sourced compound in 15 place of the synthetic disodium dihydrogen pyrophosphate. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 2.11.
 16 As discussed above, this reformulation will help ensure that future shoppers will no longer be 17 exposed to false messaging about the "all natural" status of the Alexia Products. But for 18 purposes of calculating fees based on the common fund approach, Class Counsel did not attribute 19 any monetary value to the ConAgra's agreement to reformulation since this type of relief does 20 not easily lend itself to monetary valuation without the benefit and expense of expert opinions.
 21 Thus, a conservative estimated value of the settlement exceeds $3.2 million.

22 Class Counsel avoided considerable burdens and expenses to the parties and the judicial 23 system by conducting a thorough investigation and achieving a favorable Settlement in a timely 24 fashion. The outstanding results achieved by Class Counsel here fully justify the requested fee.

25 d. Class Counsel Faced A Substantial Risk Of Nonpayment

26 A critical factor bearing on fee petitions in Ninth Circuit courts is the level of risk of non-27 payment faced by Class Counsel at the inception of the litigation. See, e.g., Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1 1048. The contingent nature of Class Counsel's fee recovery, coupled with the uncertainty that 2 any recovery would be obtained, are significant. In re Wash. Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 3 19 F.3d 1291, 1300 (9th Cir. 1994). In Wash. Pub. Power, the Ninth Circuit recognized that:

4 It is an established practice in the private legal market to reward attorneys for 5 taking the risk of non-payment by paying them a premium over their normal 6 hourly rates for winning contingency cases [I]f this 'bonus' methodology 7 did not exist, very few lawyers could take on the representation of a class client given the investment of substantial time, effort, and money, especially in light of the risks of recovering nothing.

Id. at 1299-1300 (citations omitted) (internal quotations marks omitted).

9 Throughout this case, Class Counsel expended substantial time and costs to prosecute a 10 nationwide class action suit with no guarantee of compensation or reimbursement in the hopes of 11 prevailing against sophisticated Defendants represented by high caliber attorneys. See Tellis 12 Decl. ¶ 64. Class Counsel obtained a highly favorable result for the Class, knowing that if their 13 efforts were ultimately unsuccessful, they would receive no compensation or reimbursement for 14 their costs. Class Counsel prosecuted the case with the type of vigor and skill required to ensure 15 justice for the Class. This fact alone supports a finding that Class Counsel are entitled to a 16 multiplier.

17 IV. CLASS COUNSEL'S EXPENSES ARE REASONABLE AND NECESSARILY 18 INCURRED TO ACHIEVE THE BENEFIT OBTAINED ON BEHALF OF THE CLASS

19 To date, Class Counsel incurred out-of-pocket costs and expenses in the aggregate 20 amount of $29,735.85 in prosecuting this litigation on behalf of the class. Tellis Decl. ¶ 53; 21 Bower Decl. ¶ 14. These expenses are categorized in the declarations submitted to the Court.

22 The Ninth Circuit allows recovery of pre-settlement litigation costs in the context of a 23 class action settlement. See Staton, 327 F.3d at 974. Class Counsel is entitled to reimbursement 24 for standard out-of-pocket expenses that an attorney would ordinarily bill a fee paying client.
 25 (citation omitted). See, e.g., Harris v. Marhoefer, 24 F.3d 16, 19 (9th Cir. 1994). The incurred 26 costs include court fees, copying fees, courier charges, legal research charges, 27 telephone/facsimile fees, travel costs, postage fees, and other related costs. Tellis Decl. ¶ 53, Ex.

1 C.; Bower Decl. ¶ 14, Ex. C. Each cost was necessarily and reasonably incurred to bring this 2 case to a successful conclusion, and they reflect market rates for various categories of expenses 3 incurred.

4 V. THE REQUESTED INCENTIVE AWARDS FOR CLASS REPRESENTATIVES ARE REASONABLE AND STANDARD

 6 In recognition of their efforts on behalf of the Class, and subject to the approval of the 7 Court, ConAgra has agreed to pay Class Representatives up to $5,000 each as appropriate 8 compensation for their time and effort serving as the class representatives in this litigation.
 9 Incentive awards “are fairly typical in class action cases.” Rodriguez v. W. Publ’g Corp., 563 10 F.3d 948, 958 (9th Cir. 2009). Such awards “are intended to compensate class representatives 11 for work done on behalf of the class, to make up for financial or reputational risk undertaken in 12 bringing the action, and, sometimes, to recognize their willingness to act as a private attorney 13 general.” Rodriguez, 563 F.3d at 958-59. Incentive fees are committed to the sound discretion of 14 the trial court and should be awarded based upon the court’s consideration of, inter alia, the 15 amount of time and effort spent on the litigation, the duration of the litigation and the degree of 16 personal gain obtained as a result of the case. See Van Vranken v. Atl. Richfield Co., 901 F. Supp.
 17 294, 299 (N.D. Cal. 1995). Incentive awards are appropriate when a class representative will not 18 benefit beyond ordinary class members. Where a class representative’s claim makes up “only a 19 tiny fraction of the common fund,” an incentive fee is justified. Id. Here, Class Representatives 20 will not receive any unusual or extraordinary benefit, justifying the requested awards.

21 The requested amounts of $5,000 for each Class Representative reflect the involvement 22 and time each Class Representative dedicated to the case. The involvement of the Class 23 Representatives in this action was critical to the ultimate success of the case. Class Counsel 24 consulted with the Class Representatives throughout the investigation, filing, prosecution and 25 settlement of this litigation. Tellis Decl. ¶ 67. As such, Class Representatives were actively and 26 effectively involved in the litigation and devoted substantial time and effort to the case. They 27 consulted with Class Counsel frequently and reviewed a wide variety of documents related to 28

1 this case including the complaint and Settlement Agreement. Id. Moreover, they were prepared 2 to “go the distance” in this litigation to continue to properly represent the Class and fight to 3 obtain significant relief on their behalf. Id. Their actions and dedication have conferred a 4 significant benefit on the Settlement Class across the United States.

5 Accordingly, incentive awards of $5,000 for each of the Class Representatives are fair 6 and reasonable.⁸

7 VI. CONCLUSION

8 Class Counsel were able to obtain a settlement that represents an excellent result for the 9 Class. This Settlement is the culmination of the determined and skilled work of Class Counsel.
 10 Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court award Class Counsel’s request for 11 attorneys’ fees and expenses of $800,000. The Court should also award Class Representatives, 12 Vicuña, Kyle, and Eckstein, incentive fees in the amount of $5,000 each (for a total of $15,000).
